

Break Time Signs

After 30 million steps and 3 years I'm taking a break. No, not from the walk, but from seriously writing for Loaves and Fishes. Not a long break, just this issue.

Most of the time I'm quite serious about my steps in life, but not all the time. These photos are a small part of the non-serious ones taken thus far.

If you don't like this type of Walk Across America column call me at 1-800-323-8039, extension 239 or call Meeting Ground and voice your displeasure. If more than one of you do this there will be no more "break time," even though it may be years before I take another break. It's more than one, because there is always some ornery person who never likes anything.

Laugh all you'd like ... but ... I have to watch my speed too.

This is an official south Dakota D.O.T. road sign located 1 mile from the billboard that caused me to mutter to myself: "Well, maybe not that much faith!"

Does this mean when we get drunk together we won't fall over if we hold on to each other?

If they were open as I walked on by my question would have been: "Just what charity is this for?"

Isn't it a good thing we're close? I hope this doesn't start a new trend of apologizing for nice feelings and thoughts.

This is a South Dakota billboard that caused me to mutter to myself, "Sure, I got faith!"

Miles to date: 13,687
 Money picked up along road: $1,045.09
 Unsolicited money given by motorists: $2,664.10
 Of 1113 nights: 482 nights homeless
 631 nights cared for by humanity

Till the next time ...

In Christ's love, Don
